Paper Miniatures

These miniatures were created using blank Sparks outlines from S. John Ross at <http://www.io.com/~sjohn/cumberland.htm> and artwork © Wayne Peters from <http://dspace.dial.pipex.com/scarecrow/whogame/titlepage.htm>. The artwork has been converted to black and white for easy printing, but a color version may be made available at some point in the future.

In addition to these specialized figures there are a number of Sparks scalable paper miniatures available from <http://www.io.com/~sjohn/cumberland.htm> that can be used to represent other denizens of the WHOniverse. A partial list of these suggestions are made available below.

Sparks: Dan Smith Stockpile

Urban Legend makes a good Krynoid tendril from Seeds Of Doom.

D'mon makes a good Daemon, from the episode The Daemons of course.

GR-881 makes a good Robot, from the episode of the same name.

Sparks: The Dungeoneers

Alana makes a good Leela, companion of the fourth Doctor.

Dark Acolyte makes a good member of the Brotherhood of Demnos, from Masque of Mandragora.

Sparks: Watch The Skies

T'riffik makes a good small Krynoid, from the Seeds Of Doom

Thug makes a good Ogron, from Frontier In Space among others

Sparks: Critters

Dragon Beetle or Giant Wasp make good Wirrn, from The Ark In Space.

Chrome Dragon or Rock Horror make good Skarasen, from Terror Of The Zygons.

Of course, many of the other figures would do well to represent characters in a Doctor Who style adventure. MicroTactix, <http://www.microtactix.com>, has a number of excellent paper miniatures for dressing things up as well. Their alien temple and shuttle craft from their Cheap Folks Science Fiction Figures are excellent props in particular.
